MapmyIndia launches the Navigator

Guys can sit back and breathe a sigh of relief. MapmyIndia, one of India's largest surveyors, has launched the MapmyIndia Navigator, a portable GPS system. The Navigator boasts complete, turn-by-turn coverage of 18 cities, along with important landmarks for another 150 towns as well as a complete map of national and state highways. The system is available on two hardware models, the Delphi Nav 200 and the AMAX D6GPSA, both of which can be mounted on the dashboard, and easily removed when required. Both units provide a host of additional features such as video and music playback. The Navigator is currently priced at Rs 21,000 in Delhi and Rs 22,000 across the rest of the country, and is available at leading car-accessory dealers and MapmyIndia.com.
